

TARIFF PICTURES.

The Free-trade was sure that the McKinley Tariff on tin plate would strangle our export trade in canned goods. In the year before the new tariff passed, 1899, our exports of canned beef were valued at $4,375,913.

In 1899 they aggregated $7,876,454.

Another Free-trade theory demolished by collision with a Protection fact.

"HOME" CURRENCY.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.—What the wildest men mean by a "home currency" is bank notes that nobody will accept outside of the town where they are issued.

STUMPED.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.—Cleveland is a man of courage, but he hesitates to call a special session of Congress when it involves the risk of serious disaster to his party.

AGREEABLE.

Boston Journal.—It is hardly hinted that the nomination of Josiah Quincy for the Governorship of Massachusetts would be eminently satisfactory to Secretary Gresham.

COURT'S COMPLAIN.

New York Press.—The Louisiana sugar planters who voted the Democratic ticket will now depend upon Republican Congressmen to preserve the fostering bounty upon their product.

REDDED PHICES.

New York Press.—There is a great deal of enlightened liberality in the suggestion that the price of admission to the World's Fair be reduced to twenty-five cents on certain Sundays. It is likewise only just, for only a part of the Ex-position is in operation on Sundays.

HOT AND HUNGRY.

Boston Journal.—An illuminating idea of the hunger and thirst of the Democracy is given in the little circumstance that there were no less than 1,061 applicants for the twenty Indian agencies which President Cleveland, as the new law directs, has given to army officers.

A LESSON IN FOLLY.

Chicago Inter Ocean.—The men that voted the coming Congress in and the old Congress out, and that voted in Cleveland, Hoke Smith, Blount and Poinsett, are all having time to think it over and wonder at man's folly. Four years hence the lesson should bear fruit.

SCOOTING THE OFFICES.

New York Press.—Josiah Quincy, the Mugwump Assistant Secretary of State, is startling all the Democrats in Washington by the zeal he displays and the success he achieves in hunting offices for his friends. Your true Mugwump can beat any Jacksonian Democrat in grabbing the spoils.

COULD NOT KEEF HIM FROM OFFICE. Atlanta Constitution.—You're from Georgia?

"Yes."

"What office are you after?"

"None."

"John! Come here and label this fellow—'Frank 610, Government Museum'—prominent."

GREAT IS SHAM!

Buffalo Express.—According to the new ruling a Republican Postmaster is held to have resigned when his term expires. So you will know hereafter what Bob Maxwell means when he assigns "resignation" as the cause of death of a fourth-class Nabby. What a beautiful thing is reform!

"OFFENSIVE PARTISANSHIP"

New York Press.—It is "offensive partisanship," "pernicious activity," etc., in the eyes of Roger Cleveland for a Republican Fourth-class Postmaster even to look unquiet eye at politics, but Secretary Lamont can spend weeks in negotiations with Tammany Hall over spoils and not incur the displeasure of his master.

MUZZLING THE PRESS.

Boston Journal.—The Civil Service Chronicle has brought its list of subsidized Democratic officers down to date, and prints the names of those of whom you have been appointed to office. It is not pretended that the list is complete, but it is sufficient to explain the silence of Democratic papers nowadays as to the danger to our liberties in the appointment of editors to office.

RUSSIA GETS THE BEST OF IT.

New York Evening Post.—It is becoming more and more plain that a mistake has been made in concluding any treaty with Russia. The objection to it will differ in degree only, and not in kind, from the objection to subjecting our own citizens to the criminal jurisdiction of the local authorities in Turkey, China, Morocco and other barbarous countries.

The Business Way!

The business way
to advertise is to take space by the year, take pains with your advertisements in making them attractive, and change them at least as often as once a month.
You may think there are seasons when you don't need to advertise.
We have never seen that time.

Use the dull seasons for looking over your stock and running off that which is becoming out of style or unfashionable, and giving bargains.

If you have space by the year, it costs you no more,
and you can make it profitable by converting unsalable goods into money, and interesting the money in those things which are salable.

It is to be noted with satisfaction that Pope Leo's communication to Cardinal Grimoni on the subject of the education of Catholic children in the United States, urges
the Public Schools, the clergy to strive to promote the welfare of their fellow-citizens and to prove the earnestness of their love for their country.

This is excellent advice, and should be followed, not by Catholic clergymen alone, but by Ministers of all denominations. It shows that Pope Leo understands both the value and wisdom of patriotism. Leo is an able statesman, as well as a pious priest, and he devoted to the church of which he is the head, and his efforts to reconcile the precepts of the church with the fundamental principles of the American Republic deserve sympathetic consideration.

The Pope evidently recognizes the fact that the Public Schools are an American institution, and that, as a rule, they provide a fair practical education for American children. They do not interfere with religious training, and all children, whatever their religious faith, are treated alike. The Public Schools exercise a potent influence in bringing rich and poor, native born and foreign born, together on a level of equality, and in preventing the erection of those barriers of class which,
in monarchical countries, have their fondation and origin in the separate education of the young.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., June 27.—The police have probably turned up the gang of safe-burglars who so skillfully did the Buckeye Cash store job Sunday morning, and secured $600 in cash. Two men and two women are under arrest, and they are no doubt professional crooks of reputation. They are not known in this locality. They gave the names of John Henry F. Mings, Ethel Mings and Florence Kain. The Mings woman claims to be the wife of Mings. Two others, who gave the names of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman, escaped. They have been since June 8. Among their effects were found nearly $600 in cash, some of which was identified by the cashier of the Buckeye store, two loaded revolvers and a great amount of jewelry. There was also a hat that had a bullet hole through it. The police think they have discovered a dangerous gang of crooks.

Late Monday night the police arrested John Kain, aged 45, as one of the gang. This makes the fifth arrest.
He claims to be the husband of Florence Kain. They had no chance to move, and their stories were evidently contradictory. All five prisoners are in jail in separate apartments. The police learn that the four women have been in Cincinnati and Toledo. Evidence multiplies that it is a desperate crew.

After the prisoners had been taken to police headquarters, the police made a thorough search of their rooms, and a surprising condition of affairs was discovered. Money was found concealed in various parts of the room, and in many unlikely places. In Mrs. Mings' room the coppers were found in a box of sardines. In the same room Mrs.
Mings had about $10 in silver, concealed in a dresser. Twenty-one bright wheels were found in the room, and a combination dresser was pushed aside.

Mings has his left hand wrapped in linen, and handles the members very carefully, as if it pained him greatly.
He said he accidentally shot himself a few weeks ago on the cars. It is more than likely somebody did the shooting.

The woman who represented herself as Mrs. Mings is a very pre-possessing in appearance, and dressed stylishly.

The male prisoners stated they were gathered from the first and third of from St. Paul, and Mrs. Mings claims to be from New York. The Kain woman said she lives at 210 Walnut street, Peoria, Ill.

is expected, by the end of the month.

However, that they will use it, are differently constituted, about the Dolphin late in July for a cruise up the New England coast with Bar Harbor

AN OBSERVATORY

To Be Located at the Jesuit College, Minneapolis, Philadelphia, Spain.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Don Jose Alague, of Barcelona, Spain, has just given an order to a local manufacturer for the entire equipment of an observatory to be located at the Jesuit college at Minneapolis, the capital of Luzon, one of the Philippine Islands.

The observatory and its instruments are the gift of the Spanish government which will make an annual appropriation for its support.
Don Jose Alague, who is to be in charge of the institution, has just completed a two years' special course in astronomy, and is now in England en route to his home in Spain. While in this country however, he became impressed with the superiority of American manufactures and in consequence gave an order to George N. Saginaw, of this city, for the entire outfit of instruments.
The most important of these is an equitorial telescope, which is now being constructed at the Saginaw establishment. It has a tube 30 feet in length and will weigh about 15 tons.
One of the three sections which make up the base, was successfully cast Monday afternoon at the Dent Iron works in this city. For the purpose 7,000 pounds of iron were used. Of this class of telescopes there are only three larger in the United States.

THE CHOLERA.

Reports Received From Europe Indicate That the Disease Is Still Prevalent.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Reports received by the United States marine hospital from consular and special agents throughout Europe and Asia indicate that there is to some extent a decrease in the number of deaths resulting from cholera. The disease now prevails in France, principally at Nantes, Nimes, Montpellier, Clermont and Vannes. There were several cases in Marseilles some time ago, but they were isolated, and since then none have been found.

The province of Galicia, in Austria, has been ravaged by cholera during the past few months. The latest report which has been received shows that the disease is not increasing. It is said that the report of Dr.
Kempster of Wisconsin, who was sent to Europe some time ago to examine into the condition of that continent with respect to the cholera, and the transmission of disease to this country will be submitted upon his arrival about the middle of the week.

The school will be located in the army not been decided upon.

has informed Ambassador Hayard that she was deeply touched by the message of the president of the United States.

The President's Outing.
WASHINGTON, June 27.—President Cleveland will probably leave Washington for his summer retreat at Barzard Bay during the first half of July.
He will remain at the white house for a week at least and there is a little chance that he will accept an invitation of Senator Camden to spend a few days at his West Virginia home in about two weeks.

be opened at the navy department this week for building the three new gun-boats authorized by the last congress,

A Score Rescued From the Ruined Walls
—Seven Victims Are Taken From the Debris—It Is Feared the Death List Will Reach Twenty.

Fort Scott, Kas., June 27.—At 9:30 o'clock Monday morning, without a moment's warning, the Tremont house, a four-story brick structure, collapsed, burying nearly seventy-five people in the debris.

The body of a young woman has been recovered.

Three men were taken out soon afterward, but their injuries are such that their deaths are expected in a few hours. The fire department and hundreds of citizens are at work among broken timbers, and are striving in their efforts to rescue by cries and moans of wounded people underneath the mass of debris.

The ground floor of the hotel was occupied by stores, many of which were filled with customers. It is believed that the death list will reach over twenty.

When the east wall of the hotel fell the other three walls were left standing. The firemen rescued twenty-three persons by ladders who were clinging to the window sills of the upper floors.

The work of rescue is greatly retarded by the dangerous condition of the remaining walls. Several persons, all seriously injured, have been dug out. Only one dead body has so far been recovered.

ECKELS' SAFEGUARDS.

The Controller of the Currency's Ideas of Bank Protection.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—In his annual report to congress Controller of the Currency Eckels will probably recommend some new legislation to throw still greater safeguards around national banks and increase the safety of their business. One change he is thinking of proposing is in regard to the amount of capital stock that must be paid in before a bank can begin business. Under the law as it stands at present a bank can begin business as soon as fifty per cent of the capital is paid in, and this makes it possible for any set of men who can scrape together $25,000 to start a national bank with a nominal capital of $50,000, trusting to luck for the ability to pay the balance of the capital in ten per cent monthly installments, as required by law. As a result of the present law some banks have been started with so little money behind them that they could not to have been permitted to organize at all, and in some instances they have broken up before the deferred payments on the stock were all in. If the controller succeeds in having this amendment made the new banking law, and at the same time carries out his plan of having more frequent and more thorough examinations made into the condition of the banks, it is probable the public will hear less of broken national banks than has been the case heretofore. Mr. Eckels believes that if a national bank is honestly organized and conducted with even ordinary care inside the lines laid down by the law it is practically impossible for it to fail.

Some One Was Trying to Escape.

COLEMAN, O., June 27.—Deputy Warden Playford found Monday afternoon that eighty feet of rope had been concealed over the entrance to the penitentiary, a dozen lies under the dining room stairway, and 300 cigars near by. A suspicion exists that the man who had laid for the escape of the condemned murderers in the annex, had Deputy Playford believe that the articles were planted by Charles Egan, a long-time man from Cleveland, who had made private arrangements to take leave of his fellow-prisoners.

Jack the Ripper Again.

LONDON, June 27.—The fate of the victim of the Ripper was again called to mind by a murder that was committed in Rotherhithe, a suburb a short distance to the southeast of London. The body of a woman belonging to the unfortunate class was found with the throat cut, the wound showing that the knife had been used from left to right, as was the case in all the murders committed by the ripper in the White Chapel district of London.

Sign Students' Homicide.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 27.—Mgr. Stoll conducted mass at St. Joseph's academy, Sunday. In his prayer, he said: "Bless this school, bless all the schools, and then turning his eyes toward Archbishop Ireland, he added: 'And the Faribault and Stillwater schools particularly.'"

Coal Works Fail.

CHALLIS, O., June 27.—An authentic report reached here Monday morning that Carl's coal works of Carlson, this county, had made an assignment. Carl operated the largest coal works in the county, and employed 100 men. Assets, $7,000; liabilities, $60,000.

Mr. Kline Not a Candidate.

CHICAGO, O., June 27.—John Pittman, the Buffalo murderer, was electrocuted at 12:44 Monday afternoon. The electrocution was a success.

Lord Houghton Welcomes.

DUBLIN, June 27.—Lord Houghton, an Irishman, is making a tour of the west of Ireland. He has been heartily welcomed at every place he has visited.

Murderer Fitzhugh Electrocuted.

Drowning, Scalding and Swiftly Revolving Axes.—The Signal Not Understood.—An Attempt to Execute a Turn Without the Proper Space.

THROPL, June 27.—About 3 o'clock last Thursday afternoon the English ironclad in sight of Tripoli. The five ironclads, Victoria, Camperdown, Edinburgh, Nile and Sans Pareil, were drawn up full in front. The Victoria was in the center, the Camperdown was on her left and the Edinburgh on her right. When they were within five miles of shore Vice Admiral Tryon signalled to turn and form in double line. This meant that the Victoria and Camperdown were to go ahead and describe a turn the Victoria turning to the left and the Camperdown turning to the right, then they would advance side by side in the direction for which they had come, the others would swing into double line and advance two by two behind the leads. When the order was given the distance behind the ships was less than two cable lengths. The execution of the order was easy enough for ships further away from center, but extremely difficult for the Victoria and the Camperdown. In turning their bows would pass within a few fathoms of each other. Whether Admiral Markham, of the Camperdown, could not believe this movement was to be tried when the ships were so close together or because he thought Admiral Tryon had miscalculated the distance he did not say, but he did not understand it. The Victoria and the other vessels had not hesitated. The Victoria began to turn at once as she still held to the signal. The Camperdown, however, hesitated, but also began to turn. The brief delay, however, had been fatal. The Victoria had nearly turned, and the Camperdown, swinging around her bow down upon her, both admirals were quick to act. Admiral Tryon swung the Victoria so as to arrive at the smallest angle the blow, which the officers saw was inevitable, would strike, and Adm. Markham did the same besides reversing her screw. The two-foot ram struck the Victoria's front of the armored bulwark and plunged into the thin plates of her starboard side. The armor ends at the bulwark and the forward part of the Victoria above the water line was mere cardboard to the great iron wedge. There was a smashing of wood and iron plates, and the ram and eight feet of the bow of the Camperdown crashed into the bowels of the Victoria. As all the vessels were moving to get into double line behind the two leaders they were bearing down upon the entangled ships and a catastrophe involving all the iron clads was imminent.

find himself immediately struggling in water.

A lieutenant swam up to him, put his arm around him, and despite the handicap of supporting a helpless man, was able to get away from the side of the sinking ship. The huge hull was drawing in the water as it went down and several men hurried suddenly in the water fully dressed had to battle against the suction. The deep cone of whirling water, with the swift knives chopping human bodies at the bottom of it, was a horror to daunt the bravest.

One man who escaped says he saw in this vortex at least fifty men fighting with each other and with death. In a moment or so the vortex began to close up. There was a muffled sound of thunder, the water was tossed forth and a steam vent burst from among the shrieks and screams burst from the swimmers.

The boilers had exploded, the sea had rushed into the funnels, and the swimmers were beating waves of scalding water.

With the first unrelenting of the Victoria all the boats were called away from all the other ships, and came straining over the calm sea to save the struggling. Those boats were picking up those fortunate ones who had got out of reach of the vortex. So long as the vortex lasted the boats doubled and advanced two and two by itself from the scalding water several sailors who were horribly burned. It was a fearful sight to see the men who were lost were scalded to death.

Admiral Tryon took on the bridge, and refused to leave it. Just before the Victoria made her last gasp he saw what was about to happen, and issued an order for each man to save himself, but the order never got beyond the bridge.

ROW IN CANADA.

Mercer's inflammatory Address to the French-Heads Were the Catholics Against England's Tyranny.

MONTREAL, June 27.—A most sensational feature of the anniversary of the French Canadian patriot saint, St. Jean Baptiste, and the 150th anniversary of the founding of Montreal, is an address issued to the French Canadians and all Catholics by Count Honoré Mercier, ex-premier of the Province of Quebec.

He refers, in inflammatory language, to the aggression of the English majority in Canada, which, he claims, is violating treaty laws with hostility. English tyranny is seen in Canada by (to use Mr. Mercer's words) "the abolition of the French language, by exile and confinement by political persecution and inhuman execution of young men whose crime is to love their country too well; by expulsion from Canada, of those who are loyal to the British crown, and by robbing and plundering our farmers, defenseless as they all were, and at last by the execution of the law."

The story tells what British fair play, as understood by the financial section of the country, means. By the torch of the Joan of Arc, the noble heroine buried alive at Rouen by the British, by blowing from the cannon's mouth of prisoners of war in India by the English, and by her arbitrary laws whereby Irish Catholics were obliged to pay tithes to Protestant ministers.

Mr. Mercer warns his countrymen that the only remedy against British oppression is by the alliance of French Canadians and all Catholics, and that if they don't exhibit to protect themselves both their nationalities and their religion will be done with.

The address is being widely criticized and condemned by political opponents. It is a great sensation, as it is thought it will make the breach between the English and French in the province of Quebec wider than ever.

KENTUCKY TRAGEDY.

Robert B. Hutchcraft Killed Dan Stuart.—The Former Probably Fatally Wounded.

PARIS, Ky., June 27.—R. B. Hutchcraft, a wealthy commission merchant of this city, shot and killed his brother-in-law, Dan Stuart, of Muir Station, on 9 o'clock Monday morning.

Stuart's wife suicided last July by shooting herself. Suspicions of foul play caused Stuart's arrest, but he was discharged. Stuart's wife wrote letters to Hutchcraft, her brother, before her death, alleging cruelty at the hands of her husband.

Stuart endeavored Monday morning to gain possession of the latter's threatened Hutchcraft's life, and struck him three times with a loaded cane.

Hutchcraft then shot Stuart three times over the head, the head through the right arm, and the right lung. Stuart died shortly after, and Hutchcraft is still unconscious
